Winner: 2017 Benjamin Franklin GOLD AWARD for POETRY Winner: 2017 MONTAIGNE MEDAL for MOST THOUGHT-PROVOKING books

"We came with our tongues in tatters, hugging only ourselves..."

— from the poem "Refugees"

"A WONDERFUL BOOK and a VERY IMPORTANT one. Unwaveringly lucid and luminous. Extraordinary."

--- Charles Adès Fishman editor, Blood to Remember: American Poets on the Holocaust

"Taut...beautifully realized."

— World Literature Today

POWERFUL. ELOQUENT. NUANCED. INTIMATE. TRUE.

Innovative prose and poetry weave together to tell the story of war refugee immigrants in America.

"DEEPLY MOVING. A powerful, lasting, and sometimes shocking book. SUPERB."

- Kelly Cherry, Poet Laureate of Virginia (2010-2012)

Echoes of Tattered Tongues: Memory Unfolded

by John Z. Guzlowski Foreword by Charles Adès Fishman

In this major tour de force, Guzlowski traces the arc of one of the millions of immigrant families of America, in this case, survivors of the maelstrom of World War II.

Through a haunting collage—poems, prose and prose poems, frozen moments of time, sometimes dreamlike and surreal, other times realistic and graphic—the story unfolds backwards through time.

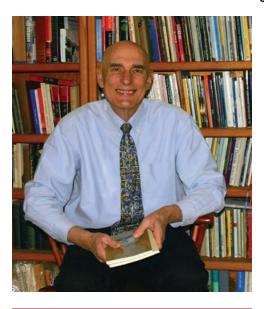

This is the story of Guzlowski's own family: his parents were taken as slave laborers by the Germans and barely survived; his sister and he were born in Displaced Persons camps.

Raw and at the same time compassionate, Guzlowski illuminates a hidden facet of World War II and reflects the many ways in which trauma echoes through time, leaving us with a deeper, more visceral understanding of the human costs of war.

Poetry • Memoir • Immigration • History • World War II ISBN 978-1-60772-021-8 (Hardcover, $21.95) 176 pages 6" x 9" 6 black & white photos Available at fine bookstores, online retailers and major wholesalers. Distributed by National Book Network, www.nbnbooks.com

Winner: 2017 Benjamin Franklin GOLD AWARD for POETRY Winner: 2017 MONTAIGNE MEDAL for MOST THOUGHT-PROVOKING books

"Exceptional...even astonished me. Reveals an enormous ability for grasping reality."

"A searing memoir." — Shelf Awareness — Nobel Laureate Czesław Miłosz on Guzlowski's poetry in Language of Mules

AUTHOR BIO

Over a writing career that spans more than 40 years, John Z. Guzlowski has amassed a significant body of published work in a wide range of genres: poetry, prose, literary criticism, reviews, fiction and nonfiction. His work has appeared in numerous national journals and anthologies, and in four prior books. Guzlowski's work has garnered high praise, including from Nobel Laureate Czesław Miłosz, who called Guzlowski's poetry "exceptional."

Born in a refugee camp in Germany after World War II, Guzlowski came to America with his family as a Displaced Person in 1951. His parents had been Polish slave laborers in Nazi Germany during the war. Growing up in the tough immigrant neighborhoods around Humboldt Park in Chicago, he met hardware store clerks with Auschwitz tattoos on their wrists, Polish cavalry officers who still mourned for their dead horses, and women who had walked from Siberia to Iran to escape the Russians. In much of his work, Guzlowski remembers and honors the experiences and ultimate strength of these voiceless survivors.

Guzlowski received his B.A. in English Literature from the University of Illinois, Chicago, and his M.A. and Ph.D. in English from Purdue University. He is Professor Emeritus of English Literature at Eastern Illinois University, and currently lives in Lynchburg, Virginia.

"GUT-WRENCHING narrative lyric poems."

— Publishers Weekly

"POWERFUL...Deserves attention and high regard."

- Kevin Stein, Poet Laureate of Illinois

"DEVASTATING, one-of-a-kind collection."

— Foreword Reviews

"UNFORGETTABLE. A historical and literary revelation."

— Cosmopolitan Review

"Remarkably STRONG YET ELEGANT. A magnificent elegy."

— Bibliotekos

